[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—The prompt confirmation by the Senate of William F. Young's nomination as postmaster at Honolulu prevented the usual fight that follows a territorial appointment. No chances were taken in this matter. Mr. Burleson had arranged for speedy action and the program went through in record time. Within six hours of the nomination Mr. Young was in shape to take the official oath.
Delegate Kalamianole, who had expected to file protest against confirmation, was too late. It was his announced intention, following the appointment, to hold the selection up indefinitely. It was said he expected to raise a close fight on the ground that the organic act was violated by the naming of a mainland. This was not accurate. The delegate proposed basing his opposition on the ground that the Baltimore platform plank, which declares that local offices should be filled under home rule principles, had not been observed.
In any event no opportunity was afforded for a fight based on any grounds. The postmaster-general was too wary and took no chances.
Immediately following confirmation Mr. Young announced that he had arranged to sail on the Matsonia, leaving San Francisco May 20. He went to his home in South Carolina for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements. His wife is an invalid and her removal for such a distance was a matter of some concern to the new postmaster.
Before leaving Mr. Young made it plain that he would completely reorganize the postoffice at Honolulu. He strongly intimated that the present assistant postmaster, Joseph Kober, would be retained. He took up the question of filling other subordinate positions with Charles Barron, who deferred his trip to New York because of the excitement of the occasion. It became evident that the recommendations of Mr. Barron and the county.

KEALOHA TAKEN INTO CUSTODY WHEN LEAVING

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireline.]
HILO, May 15.—Supervisor Kealohe was put under arrest here today as he was preparing to board an inter-island steamer for Honolulu. The mittimus was issued hurriedly, and served at once. Kealohe had been expecting such action since the supreme court of the territory sustained the lower court and ordered the sentence imposed on Kealohe by that tribunal to be executed.
Kealohe stated on arrest that he had witnessed his attorney, Claudius McBride, now in Honolulu, to appeal his case to the United States supreme court on a constitutional point.
McBride stated this morning that he had received such a message, but seemed disinclined to act on its suggestion. He intimated, however, that another legal fight is about to be made on behalf of his client.
"We have only begun fighting," he said.
He did not give out the exact nature of the proceedings contemplated.

WIVES OF ARMY OFFICERS PINNED BENEATH AUTO

Mrs. McCaskey Injured, While
Mrs. Taylor Escapes—Turned to Save Child's Life

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
FORT SHAFTER, May 15.—Mrs. Douglas McCaskey, wife of Captain McCaskey of the 4th Cavalry stationed at Schofield Barracks, is in the local hospital with a severe cut over her right eye, the injury having been received when the automobile which she was driving turned turtle, as Mrs. McCaskey was endeavoring to avoid running over a little child. Mrs. Harold S. Naylor, wife of Lieut. Naylor of the 1st Field Artillery, Schofield, miraculously escaped without injury, notwithstanding the fact that both women were pinned underneath the car.
Messdames McCaskey and Naylor were driving into Honolulu from Schofield Barracks, the former at the wheel, and when in front of the Kamehameha school, the child attempted to cross the road in front of the automobile. Exercising quick judgment, Mrs. McCaskey turned the car sharply, at almost right angles, with the result that it turned completely over.
Residents in the vicinity of the accident, hearing the cries of the women, lifted the car and allowed them to crawl out from under, while a passing automobile, driven by Henry McRae, removed them to the Ft. Shafter hospital.
The escape of the women from more serious injury is attributed to the fact that the car was a light runabout.

JAPAN WOMEN'S UNIVERSITY IS DOING GREAT EDUCATIONAL WORK

Members of Hawaii Party Visit
Institution and Speak at Fourteenth Anniversary

By RILEY H. ALLEN,
[By Latest Mail.]
TOKIO, Japan, April 24.—The Hawaii party touring Japan has everywhere seen many proofs of the strides that popular education is making, but nowhere have the proofs been so numerous as they are in Tokio.

In the country districts the schoolhouses almost invariably are the best structures in the villages. And in Tokio, the wealthy and populous capital, the universities and schools are large and efficient.
And in Tokio also is that strong and useful institution, the Japan women's university. Four members of the Hawaii party visited the women's university upon the first occasion that presented itself, last Monday, and an unusual visit it proved to be.

Fourteen years ago that day, April 20, the university was opened, and last Monday the fourteenth anniversary was being celebrated. A Japanese educator well-known in Honolulu conceived and founded the institution. He is Mr. Jimo Naruse, and many remember a striking interview given this paper upon the occasion of his visit to Honolulu about a year ago. He was then on his way to the United States.
The Women's University is the only institution in Japan for the higher education of women. It has done and is doing a splendid work and from its inception it has had the support of leaders of Japanese government and thought.
At the anniversary exercises, two of the faithful financial supporters of the institution were present and each donated 25,000 yen, or $12,500. They were I. Morimura and Baron E. Shibusawa, both councilors of the institution.
About 1,000 young Japanese women and girls were assembled in the auditorium and Rev. W.D. Westervelt, R.

O. Matheson and Riley H. Allen of the Hawaii party were called on for impromptu speeches. They spoke on the benefits to be derived from closer relations between Hawaii and Japan and the education of the people of each nation in the knowledge of the other's customs, morals and characteristics. The subject of the education of women was dealt with in addresses by President Naruse, Baron Shibusawa and Mr. Morimura. After the program was concluded, a tea was served at which the Hawaii visitors met members of the faculty and prominent educators present at the exercises.
Miss Fuji Koka, who is connected with the faculty and in charge of the kindergarten work, had invited the Hawaii party to be present. She spent some time studying in Honolulu several years ago and renewed acquaintances here with Rev. and Mrs. Westervelt.

JEFF M'CARN WAXES ROUGH ON HILO TOWN

Warming up to the subject, in a plea before the jury in the Freeman-Sylvester conspiracy case, Jeff M'Carn, U. S. district attorney, declared this morning that there "were not enough devils in hell or in Hilo" to drive him out of the territory.
"I will be here fighting against violation of the United States laws, and defending your children," he cried, "despite all the assaults and territorial indictments. There are not enough devils in hell or in Hilo to stop me. Until I am proved unworthy of this trust, I will be here fighting."

The members of Honolulu Lodge No. 1, Modern Order of Phoenix, will hold a meeting this evening at the quarters of the lodge, Bereania street, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

FIENDISH CRIME CHARGED AGAINST W. N. M'DOUGALL

Man Taken from Aboard Ventura
Will Be Given Hearing
Before Commissioner Davis

McDougall was committed to the Oahu prison in default of $7500 bonds, after a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Davis this afternoon.

Authorized by wireless messages, cables and written communications, Acting Marshal Harry Holt, this morning boarded the Oceanic steamship Ventura as soon as she arrived off port, taking into custody W. N. McDougall.

McDougall is committed to the Honolulu district court on a capital charge alleged to have been committed on the high seas. Governor Stearns, of American Samoa, signed the commitment papers and sent McDougall to Honolulu in charge of Chief Machinist J. Corner, who is one of the draft leaving Pago Pago for home services.

The offense for which McDougall is to be tried in Honolulu is a very revolting one, and the alleged crime is said to have been perpetrated on a little girl of four years. The alleged crime is said to have happened while the Ventura was on her way down from Honolulu to Sydney on her April trip. The vessel left Honolulu on April 13 and the criminal assault, according to the evidence, was committed April 15.

At Pago Pago the captain of the Ventura handed McDougall over to Governor C. D. Stearns, who held him until the Ventura returned from Sydney. McDougall was then placed on the steamer and brought to Honolulu.

The accused will be given a hearing before Commissioner George Davis today. United States District Attorney M'Carn will take up the matter, and the evidence taken in Samoa.
